

New Developments in Fiscal Policy Analysis

A CEPR/CREI Workshop, Barcelona, 20/21 May 2002

Organizer: Albert Marcet, Universitat Pompeu Fabra and CEPR

CALL FOR PAPERS

This call for papers invites you to submit a paper to, or express your interest in attending, the above conference on 'New Developments in Fiscal Policy Analysis', which will be held in Barcelona on 20/21 May 2002. The conference will be organized by Albert Marcet, sponsored by the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR) and the Center for Research in International Economics (CREI), and hosted by Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Barcelona.

The conference aims to provide a forum for new research on the macroeconomics of open economies and will stress, among others, the following themes:

- Models of Fiscal Policy
- Optimal taxation
- Empirical evidence on the effects of fiscal policy
- Distributive issues of taxation
- Interdependence of Monetary and Fiscal policy

Meals and accommodation will be provided for all participants during the conference. Travel expenditures (economy class) will be reimbursed by CEPR according to the enclosed guidelines. If you could contribute to the costs of your attendance from a research grant at your disposal this would free up space for someone else. Please indicate on your reply form whether you will be able to cover your own travel costs, or whether you will require funding.

It would be a great help to us in the organization of this meeting if you could please complete the enclosed reply form indicating whether or not you wish to present a paper (in which case an abstract or summary should be attached), or would be willing to act as discussant, and return this to Jessica Mason (jmason@cepr.org) at CEPR by Friday 7 December 2001, at the latest. We will confirm your participation in January 2002.

We look forward to hearing from you.
