

CALL FOR PAPERS

Workshop

Information, Beliefs and Expectations in Macroeconomics

Barcelona, May 20-21, 2011

Submission deadline: January 31, 2011

On behalf of the Centre de Recerca en Economia Internacional (CREI) and the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR), we invite you to submit a paper for a workshop on the role of information, beliefs and expectations in macroeconomics (broadly interpreted). The workshop will be hosted by CREI and will take place in Barcelona, on the Universitat Pompeu Fabra campus.

Papers suitable for submission could address issues including (but not limited to):

- Endogenous information choices: Theory and evidence
- The interaction between informational and wealth heterogeneity
- How to model rational decisions without assuming complete knowledge of the world
- The role of public information in economic crisis
- Methodological aspects including solution methods, empirical strategies and numerical efficiency

We will accept around 8 papers for presentation in the workshop. Presentations will start on Friday afternoon and finish at lunch time on Saturday, leaving ample opportunity for discussion among the participants. Travel and accommodation expenses will be reimbursed according to CEPR guidelines.

To submit a paper (or express your interest to participate in the conference), please email Caroline Daniels (cdaniels@cepr.org), attaching a draft or extended abstract of the paper in pdf format. The deadline for submissions is Monday, January 31, 2011. Papers submitted after this date or on topics outside the scope of the workshop will not be considered.

Kristoffer Nimark, CREI and Universitat Pompeu Fabra
Bartosz Mackowiak, European Central Bank and CEPR